

The Miner's Daughter

Length, 915 feet

COPYRIGHT 1908

A schemer from the East is going West to try his luck in mining camps. Finding the miner's daughter alone at home he tries to force his attention upon her but is vigorously rejected.

Finding out that the old man made a rich find he breaks into his camp at night and steals his nuggets. The daughter takes up his pursuit. After a long and diligent search she tracks him and delivers him in the hands of the law.

MANUFACTURER OF

2000. 8-08

Life Motion Picture Machines, Films,
Slides and Stereopticons.
Lubin Building, 926-928 Market St., Phila., Pa.
NO. 60